FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Patrick Brennan Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease.

Patrick Brennan, a young man 28 years of age, was found dead in bed at his boarding house, No. 216 Ottawa street yesterday morning. The deceased with his brother Thomas had been employed on the Michigan Trust building, and boarded and lodged together. Patrick complained several times Saturday of a shooting pain in his chest, but seemed as well as usual when he retired at 11 o'clock. At 6:30 yesterday, Thomas arose and dressed and then tried to wake his brother, when he discovered that he was dead. Coroner Penwarden was notified and the history of the case pointed to clearly to angina pectoris that he deemed a further investigation unnecessary. The deceased was a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and came here recently from New York. His funeral will occur Tuesday.

NEW BOAT CLUB ORGANIZED.

A Name Adopted and a Contract for a Boat Will Be Let.

Members of the boat club, recently organized, held a meeting yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Bridge street house and adopted a name for the organization. They will file articles of incorporation as the "Jolly Eleven Fishing and Boating Club." The name was suggested from the number composing the club, the membership of which is comprised of the following gentlemen: W. E. Wethey, president; Oscar Allen, secretary and treasurer; and H. M. Biven, Oscar Wells, J. E. Rice, Phil Corrigan, John G. Jackson, Geo. E. Argard, William Tevyn, L. W. Rice and Charles H. Chick. The new boat was christened the "Direct" in honor of Mr. Saulsbury's pacer of California and Mr. Saulsbury was elected an honorary member of the club. The boat will be twenty-one feet in length with a five and one-half foot beam. It will be designed to carry twenty-two persons, just accommodating the members of the club and their wives. Proposals from several firms have been received for building the boat, and a meeting will be held Wednesday evening at Jackson's barber shop for the purpose of awarding the contract. It is expected that the boat will be completed by May 1, and that the contract price will not fall below $500. The club will launch the little yacht on Grand river and run it to points between here and Grand Haven, for pleasure and fishing purposes.

PLANS FOR MICHIGAN'S BUILDING

Will Probably be Adopted at a Meeting in Grand Rapids Wednesday.

Hon. I. M. Weston of Grand Rapids, E. H. Belden, of Horton, and J. W. Flynn of Detroit, the executive board of the Michigan World's Fair commission, held a meeting in the Russell house parlors last evening to consider the plans thus far submitted for Michigan's building. The cost of the building is restricted to $20,000 and there are eight competitors. It is not that the job will pay the successful competitor more than any other $20,000 building, and perhaps not so much, but the credit of being chosen is regarded as something of considerable value and the competition is therefore quite spirited. Col. E. E. Myers and Mortimer L. Smith, two of the architects who have submitted sketches, were before the executive committee last evening and after the session, Mr. Belden said: "The committee is pretty well agreed on what it wants, but nothing has yet been said or done indicative of which set of plans will be adopted. The pomological committee, of which I am a member, meets in Grand Rapids on Wednesday, and the executive committee will be called for a meeting at the same time and place, and it is probable that at that meeting we may choose the plan for the building."—Detroit Free Press.

PLANNED A RECEPTION.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. Will Get Acquainted Tuesday Evening.

The Y. M. C. A. will give a reception Tuesday evening in Hartman's hall to the members who have joined the association within the last few weeks. The reception and social committees have formulated a plan of entertainment which has not been made public. The matter is kept a secret in order to spring a surprise upon those who attend. The membership has been increased by large numbers within the last few months and many of the members are entire strangers to each other. This plan has been adopted to bring about an acquaintance that will enable the association to work more effectively. Each member is requested to bring one gentleman friend with him.

WESTERN MAN FOR PRESIDENT.

Senator Palmer of Illinois Would Accept the Nomination if Tendered Him.

John Mayo Palmer of Springfield, Ill., a son of Senator Palmer, arrived at Sweet's yesterday. His visit to the city was for the purpose of rendering any assistance possible to his brother-in-law, "Wat" Robinson. To a reporter for THE HERALD, Mr. Palmer said Mr. Robinson's condition was in no wise serious, and that he would undoubtedly be all right in a few days, a complete mental rest being all that was needed.

Speaking of the political situation, Mr. Palmer said: "It is a little early yet to make any definite prophecies, and still, from the rapidly with which Hill is manipulating the wires in New York, it is easy to infer that the final result will be. I do not think there can be any question but that Cleveland is out of the race. I do not think his name will ever be presented before the convention in the light of a candidate. Neither he nor his friends will insist upon it. Although Hill has unquestionably captured Tammann and the New York delegation, yet he hardly the man to appeal to the democrats of this country as a whole, and if he were nominated I do not believe that he could possibly be elected. His political reputation would tell against him strongly. As the matter stands now, the democratic party must nominate a western man. Who this man will be remains to be seen. Of course in our part of the country we are unanimously in favor of my father, Senator Palmer; but other democrats have strong followings also. Governor Hoies of Iowa, is gaining strength rapidly, and will soon have a strong following. He is a strong man too, and his friends will rally en masse to his support. I am sure that neither my father nor Governor Hoies is openly seeking the nomination, and neither would resort to any political maneuvers to obtain it; yet either, I think, would accept it if it were tendered to him and he believed that such acceptance was for the best interests of the party.

But these aren't the only western democrats who are eligible candidates and more may spring up before the convention is held. The nomination will probably come to the west and some one of these western candidates will receive the nomination almost unanimously when it comes."

Jewish Philanthropy.

Taral Cowell of Chicago, first vice president of the B'nai B'rith society and chairman of the committee on educational advancement, is a guest at the Merton. Speaking of the association in general he said last night: "We don't wish people to think that our organization is devoted exclusively to the advancement of Jewish interests. We try to do all the good we can, to Jew and Gentile alike. We are Jews, but we are Americans first of all. Of course our deepest sympathies are with those of our own belief; but we believe we are doing the public a great good when we raise the condition of one of our own people. We are trying to do everything we can to make the name Jew, a term of respect which it ought to be.

As an evidence of the fact that we are trying to do all the good we can, the Jews are sending grain and relief to the starving Russian peasants. The reports that the Jewish grain merchants have cornered the European grain market, is a wrong one, I am sure. The Jewish merchants are not so vindictive and cruel as to wish to make an crushed and innocent peasantry suffer for the cruelty of a tyrant. If the Jewish money lenders could bring the czar and his ministers to terms, by withholding loans or anything of that kind, there is no doubt but that they would unhesitatingly do it.

The Jews in some parts of Russia have severely suffered from the effects of the czar's decree, but they will not be provided for in the end. The Jewish race is better off today than before in years, and the Russian government will never gain wealth or respect by persecuting our people."

CAUSE OF THE MISFIT FIRE.

Speculations Regarding its Origin—Stock Damaged By Water and Smoke.

The generally accepted theory of the origin of the fire which occurred in the basement of the Misfit Clothing Parlor, yesterday morning, is that of the defective flue or masonry and masonry combination. The building was heated with a coal stove and the pipe instead of taking the usual course, up and into a chimney, went down and through the floor and then into the chimney. Many passers-by stopped to look in the windows as they passed down Monroe street, but there was little to be seen and scarcely any indication of a fire in the front part of the store. It is fortunate for the proprietors that the fire department responded so promptly. But very few goods were burned, although the damage by smoke and water will make a large portion of the stock unsalable. It is possible careless persons about the store dropped matches in rubbish or waste paper which ignited by mice or otherwise caused the fire. No additional facts regarding the probable loss or insurance were obtained yesterday.

Will Address the Foresters.

Mr. Baker and Mr. Wheeler, representatives of the supreme lodge, will address an open meeting of Kent court No. 411, Independent Order of Foresters, Tuesday evening in Shanahan's hall on Plainfield avenue. The order has changed its night of meeting to the second and fourth Tuesday of the month.

Has a Sprained Leg.

L. L. Lanniere was thrown from his carriage Saturday afternoon in front of the New Livingston hotel, on South Division street, and one of his legs was badly sprained. A farmer's team became frightened at an electric car and ran against Mr. Lanniere's rig. The carriage was tipped over, but no serious damage was done.

Arrested for Larceny.

Bastian Van Dommelin, the man arrested Saturday evening on a charge of stealing a watch from Flueren's hat store, was arrested again yesterday by Detective Smith on a second charge, that of larceny from the person. John Spigler was snoozing in McCannell's saloon on Waterloo street Saturday afternoon when he claims Van Dommelin, his brother-in-law, of Chicago, who arrived in the city yesterday for the purpose of taking Robertson to his friends. His condition was considerably better than when he was taken to police headquarters, and he will be taken to Chicago this morning.

In the Care of Friends.

W. A. K. Robertson was released from custody last evening and delivered over to John Mayo Palmer, his brother-in-law, of Chicago, who arrived in the city yesterday for the purpose of taking Robertson to his friends. His condition was considerably better than when he was taken to police headquarters, and he will be taken to Chicago this morning.

Hughes to the Poor House.

Peter Hughes, a kleptomaniac whose thieving has gotten him into the county jail three times since last October, was taken to the county house Saturday. He has been a resident of this city for thirty-five years and has become slightly demented.

F. B. SARGEANT

Grand Master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

The recent meeting in New York of a grand convention of 2000 delegates representing the Order of Railway Conductors, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, and the Order of Railway Telegraphers has attracted much attention throughout the country. This was due to the fact that one of the purposes of the meeting was to discuss plans for the formation of a grand amalgamated organization of all the separate bodies represented at the convention. The principal champion and advocate of this idea is Grand Master F. B. Sargeant, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, whose home is at Terre Haute, Ind. There is an increasing probability that the movement thus inaugurated will culminate in the extension of the union idea through the establishment of a central and consolidated organization embracing all the railway employees of the United States.

HE HAD TO WIN.

An Old-Time Chicago Horse Race That Was "Fixed."

I always like to hear some reminiscences of the early days of Chicago, says the Baron, in the Chicago Press, and was surprised a day or two ago when talking with one of the "oldest inhabitants" to hear that there used to be a straight race track, beginning at about the corner of State and Madison streets and running down to Cottage Grove avenue. This was away back in 1840, at a time when this city appeared to be dead and Galena was supposed to be the coming metropolis of the west. There was to be a great trotting race here and the Galena sports had brought down a clipper to trot against a piebald Chicago horse. The race created a great excitement, and the Galena men gave rise to some suspicion of crookedness by making the odds on their horse ten dollars to one dollar. Just before the start a man named Mason rode up alongside the driver of the Chicago horse, and, pulling a pistol, said to him: "Now, see here, mister man, you have got to win this race. I'm going to ride right with you all the way. Do you see this gun? If you let that Galena horse catch up to you at any point on the course I shall just blow the top of your head off." The piebald won the race.

E. C. McHETTRIDGE,

Ex-Treasurer of the Badger State—The Coming Contest.

Politics in Wisconsin grow steadily and interesting as the contest develops. The war against the Bennett school law, which made George W. Peck mayor of Milwaukee, and made easy the humor-ist's protection to the governorship in 1890. In that campaign the state treasury question played a decisive part. The democrats charged that republican state treasurers had appropriated the interest on state funds deposited in the banks. Their appeal to the voters at the next election will be based upon the claim that the state administration have saved the state a sum equal to $100 a day for fifteen years. The republicans strenuously deny, and the ensuing campaign will be the hottest one in the Badger state for many years.

"In the Wash"

That's where your delicate handkerchiefs come to be "more hole-y than righteous"—certainly not in the show-like service required of them—more or less true of all things washed.

Give two

Wash one

The old-fashioned way of rub, rub, rub, is slow work, poor work, slow death to women—quick death to fine things, and renders coarse things useless long before their time. Pearline does away with all this. Costs but five cents to try it; directions for easy washing on every package; easy for you, easy on things washed. We can't make you try. Pearline—you would thank us if we could. Millions are grateful for its help. Envious soap makers try to imitate it—borrowed brains are cheap—and so are their productions.
